

Main Line League
Makes Playing StartBASEBALL FANS, MAGNATES AND POTENTATES ON HAND AT INITIAL MEETING—CANI-
ZARES WILL HEAD.

Main Line League baseball potentates and magnates of high and low degree, with a sprinkling of interested fans, foregathered last Monday night in the library of the Wayne Men's Club, elected officers, discussed Southern training trips, held post mortems over last season's results, heard two new applicants for membership in the league, and adjourned to meet next Monday night at the same time and place.

President A. A. H. Canizares called the meeting to order. In the absence of Secretary Walter C. Compton, of Berwyn, Austin J. H. Houck, of Wayne, was named as secretary pro tem. The clubs were represented as follows: Berwyn, Phineas P. Pyott and Jesse Lewis; Paoli, George Isinger; Wayne, Charles C. Shoemaker and Austin J. H. Houck; Bryn Mawr, William J. Rogers; St. Denis, of Ardmore, John C. Numan; Narberth, Fred Walzer and Gene Davis; Highland Park, Pat O'Brien; Malvern, Rowland Todd and J. A. Hartnett.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, A. A. H. Canizares, Wayne; First Vice-President, Charles C. Shoemaker, Wayne; Second Vice-President, Robert Edgar, Narberth; Secretary-Treasurer, William J. Ferguson, Wayne.

There is trouble at Paoli, which has always been the weak sister in the league. Recently Malvern organized an athletic association and intend to put a baseball team on the field this season. This action will deprive Paoli of the services of a number of the best players they had last year. To overcome this difficulty Mr. Isinger asked that the "Railroaders" be granted the privilege to extend their boundaries to take in Downingtown. This proposition didn't seem to meet with much favor and finally on Mr. Pyott's motion Paoli was given until next Monday night to put up a definite proposition to the league.

In the meantime the doughty Pat O'Brien, grand sachem of the tribe of Highland Park, presented an application for admission to the league. Pat is an oldster in Main Line baseball, having managed Overbrook a number of years ago and being connected later with Autocar. He has good grounds and will have a good team at Highland Park. Action on his application was deferred until Monday night, pending settlement of the Paoli matter. And that's that.

The prospects are bright for an even more successful season than last year. Differences which have arisen in the Wayne team ancient the playing of Sunday baseball seem to be in a fair way toward amicable adjustment. At Berwyn, Phil Pyott says he will have a much stronger team than the one which copped the gonfalon last year. In the college town, Bill Rogers has corralled a galaxy of stars that "will be in the race from the drop of the hat," according to the astute William. With Joe Cullinan, Billy Kane, Billy Numan, Jack Murray, Duff Henzy, et al., on his roster, Johnny Numan has a crew of fence wreckers at St. Denis that will give many an uneasy moment to Main Line twirlers. The return of Fred Walzer to the helm at Narberth means a strong team for that pretty borough. With Flick Stites and Gene Davis as advisers, Fred may be counted upon as having a bunch to reckon with. And Pat O'Brien! Say, take it from us, if so be it Highland Park gets a franchise, there'll be turkey trotting and hen racing in every minute of every game.

Taking it by and large there oughter be some great doin's in baseball along the line this year.

Community Club Party

CARD PARTY FOR BUILDING FUND
—ST. PATRICK'S NIGHT.

Did you attend the Card Party given last year by the Woman's Community Club? Of course you did—if you play cards. Everyone was there, and their Philadelphia friends. On St. Patrick's night, March 17, will be a card party like the one last year. It is given in the evening, so the men can attend, and your out-of-town friends can come too. All are welcome as long as there is space at the fifty tables. The price is less than last year, because some of us have less money than we had last year.

If you have some friends you would like to entertain, this makes a very desirable way to do it—four people for three dollars. That is a real economical way to do it—about the price of a good moving picture and it lasts longer.

The members of the Club will hear about it, and those who are not members can get tickets from any of the committee.

If you belong to a club, let the whole club come and play as a club if they would like. More than one club did that last year.

Of course, there will be refreshments. The Community Club always give refreshments.

The proceeds go entirely to the building fund of the Club. The Club made a good start last year with their bazaar. This year there will be no bazaar, but anything as good as a Community Club House must grow, so to help it grow, help the card party to be a rousing success.

The committee in charge is: Mrs. M. F. Alexander, Mrs. J. E. Chappatte, Mrs. R. Dohard, Mrs. C. P. Fowler, Mrs. H. Hartley, Mrs. H. A. Jacobs, Mrs. J. W. Joyce, Mrs. W. J. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. C. D. Moody, Mrs. J. W. Mulholland, Mrs. N. C. Rowley, Mrs. V. L. Sanderson, Mrs. N. Southworth, Mrs. H. P. Stevens, Mrs. E. Taylor, Mrs. C. Verna and Mrs. C. L. Warwick.

Remember the night: Thursday, March 17, at 8 o'clock, in the Community Room of the Y. M. C. A. Building. Tickets, 75 cents.

Tonight's the Night!

At last! The Juniors' opportunity to show the well-famed dancers of Narberth just what kind of dance a "Junior Dance" can be. Everything is "set"—musicians of a variety to tingle the toes of the most unwilling, and to tickle the taste of the "ever-dancers"; decorations of a kind that we promise you are going to be a surprise by their originality and artisticness, and favors! Let everyone come, it only to see what entrancing favors are going to be distributed. The patronesses are comprised of the two chairmen of the Juniors, Mrs. Horace Moore and Mrs. Norman Southworth, and of each member of the Executive Board of the Women's Community Club. They are Mrs. Edw. C. Batchelor, Mrs. C. P. Fowler, Mrs. A. B. Ross, Mrs. Edw. A. Muschamp, Mrs. Neal C. Anderson, Mrs. Jesse S. Harris, Mrs. Robert P. Wood, Mrs. William Livingston, Mrs. Harry A. Jacobs, Mrs. J. S. Barclay and Mrs. Mulholland.

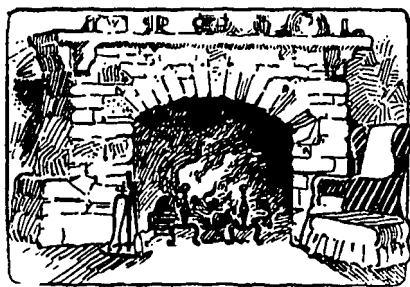

It will be too late tomorrow to "wish you had been there" when you hear the enthusiastic reports of those who were wise. So don't dither about it, and at eight o'clock tonight come to Elm Hall and have a good dance in the "Junior way."

The Coming
Evangelistic Meetings

One of Philadelphia's prominent evangelistic workers states that every church has a good many in-laws: fathers-in-law, mothers-in-law, brothers-in-law and sisters-in-law.

To explain this, the father who is content to let mother go to church without him is considered a father-in-law to the church. The father and mother who send the children to Sunday School and do not attend Sunday School or church themselves are considered father-in-law and mother-in-law to the church. It is easy now to conceive of brothers-in-law and sisters-in-law to the church, isn't it?

Most of the in-laws of the church are interested enough in Christian affairs to help Christian effort. Their help will soon be greatly welcomed. The evangelistic services to be held at the Narberth Presbyterian Church during the two weeks preceding Easter are held alike for all, whether church attendants or not, and for the greatest spiritual good to our community it is hoped that everyone who possibly can attend these meetings will do so.

The messages Dr. Bishop has prepared for these meetings are such that all who hear him will consider it a privilege indeed.

In preparation for these meetings, Cottage Prayer Meetings will be held Friday evening, March 11, at 7:30 o'clock, at the following homes: Mrs. H. C. Gara, 404 S. Narberth Avenue; Mr. A. E. Brown, 426 N. Essex Avenue; Mr. W. D. Ross, 211 N. Narberth Avenue.

Scout News

Trip to Valley Forge.

We were to meet at Scout Headquarters in Narberth at eight o'clock Tuesday morning. The boys that were there were Scouts Snyder, Parker, Wanamaker, McAniff, Rudolph, Burrill, Ollione, McKinnon, Cox, Longley, Burt, Lane, Youngbluth, and also Scoutmaster Patten and "Babe" Patten, the mascot. We left at nine o'clock in a truck and arrived at Valley Forge at ten. We signed up at Headquarters and then went to the chapel, where we found that there was going to be a snowball fight between the four hundred Scouts there. After the fight we cooked our lunch and then went to the services to be held in the Washington Memorial Chapel. There we also received our diploma for the Fall Troop Inspection for having an average of above eighty points. We then left for Narberth, and everyone said he had a fine time.

The Narberth Boy Scouts were presented with a beautiful new desk for their quarters by Hon. Fletcher W. Stites, of Narberth, which was very much appreciated by all the Scouts.

Meeting March 19thNEW OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED—
IMPORTANT MATTERS IN CON-NECTION WITH NEW GROUNDS TO BE SETTLED—COMMIT-TEE TO SERVE "SMOKES"
AND "EATS."

What will probably be the most important annual meeting of the Narberth Tennis Association ever held is scheduled for Saturday evening, March 19, in the Community Room of the Y. M. C. A. Building. The meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock sharp.

Every member is urged to attend. Business of first importance will come up for discussion and settlement and the officers and the members of the Board of Trustees in charge of the new grounds project are particularly anxious to have every member of the Association present, and learn their views and opinions on a number of questions.

Then, too, new officers will be elected for the coming season and with the Association moving to its new grounds this spring, it is important that every member who possibly can should come to the Y. M. C. A. Community Room at 8 P. M., Saturday evening, March 19.

The committee in charge of the annual meeting have arranged to serve both eats and smokes and want to make the meeting a social as well as a business gathering.

With respect to the new tennis grounds, it is hoped that the courts will be ready to play on by the middle of May. The opening date depends, of course, on the weather conditions during the next couple of months. As much as possibly could be done on the new courts was done last fall and throughout the winter. Within a few weeks it is planned to get busy on the new grounds and get them in shape as fast as the weather will permit.

For God and Country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate one hundred per cent. Americanism; to preserve the memories and in 'deuts of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, State and Nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.—Preamble to the Constitution of the American Legion.

Another Basketball Game Next
Wednesday Evening

Another basketball game between teams representing the married and single members of the Narberth Tennis Association will be played next Wednesday night, in the gymnasium of the High School. An admission of 25 cents will be charged, and the proceeds will be given to the Athletic Association of our Narberth Schools.

Wayne Harris, "late Vonzah" of the "Sunken Olive Gardens" company, will again captain the single men's team, which is out to redeem itself from the defeat of some time ago. Roy Williams, "an attractive blonde," also "late" of the "Sunken Olive Gardens" company, will captain the married men's team.

If you want to see some real sport, go to this basketball game next Wednesday night, and help the School Athletic Association.

THAT TROUBLESOME HEATER.

To the Editor of Our Town:

Many folks make useless work and expense for themselves due to a lack of knowledge or to carelessness in "tending" their heater.

One who has had many years' experience in "firing" one of these inventions for the comfort of us humans, says the object in having a heater is to warm the air inside of the building in which it is located. That in order to heat the inside of a house or building (and not the outside air) certain simple rules must be observed. First and always you must keep in mind the fact that in order to get heat a good live body of fire must be secured, after which certain dampers and check drafts must be properly fixed so that the "body of fire" will accomplish its purpose in the most satisfactory manner.

A little pamphlet was recently distributed by Mr. C. P. Cook, our enterprising coal merchant, to the residents of our town which very clearly directs how a heater should be run in order to obtain the best results. The directions contained therein apply to coal as well as to the new fuel, "Domestic Coke," and if folks would read and carefully observe the simple rules so clearly set forth therein the maximum of comfort would be obtained with the least expense and annoyance. If the little booklet has been mislaid another can be secured by applying at the local coal office.

"ASHES."

A new plan to keep commuters promptly informed of any interruption in the regular commutation train schedules on the Main Line electric service between Philadelphia and Paoli, has been inaugurated by the Pennsylvania Railroad and is being carried on in a systematic way for the comfort and convenience of those who commute to and from Philadelphia.

When for any reason a commutation train is five minutes late anywhere on its run, the Assistant Passenger Trainmaster at Broad Street Station is immediately notified. His office then at once relays the information simultaneously to every station agent from Overbrook to Paoli, inclusive, by means of a telephone line connecting up all the stations.

Main Line commuters, with very few exceptions, wait for their trains out on the station platforms. The station agent, therefore, upon being informed of delay to any train makes announcement to the waiting commuters by the use of a large megaphone provided for the purpose. Experience has shown that delays to trains can be announced in this way to passengers at all the Main Line stations within a very few minutes after they have occurred.

If a train is fifteen minutes or more late, and its detention affects other trains, or if an accident ties up the movement of the local trains between Philadelphia and Paoli for a longer period, large placards calling attention to the fact, and urging the patrons to watch the bulletin boards, are posted at conspicuous places at each station. With the ticket agent's office directly connected by telephone with the office of the Assistant Passenger Trainmaster, to whom all reports of detentions are made, the exact conditions as to the train movements are made known at all times to each agent, who, in turn, is directed to pass the information on to the patrons of the railroad, verbally as well as by posted notices.

At the present time there are 84 local trains operated between Philadelphia and Paoli each day. If at any time one of these trains is five minutes or more late, through the new system now in effect, each station agent is promptly advised from headquarters, and is in a position to give patrons definite information as to the train movements, which in turn enables them to make changes in their engagements to overcome the emergency.

The electric train service between Philadelphia and Paoli during the month of January has been operated on practically a perfect schedule. During the month the total number of trains operated was 2,073. Of this number 2,021, or 97.5 per cent., were on time.

DEATH OF MISS OLIVIA JONES.

Miss Olivia Jones died February 24 at the Bryn Mawr Hospital. She was seriously attacked with meningitis a week before her death and she was removed to the hospital with the hope that her life could be saved.

Olivia Jones was a daughter of the late Evan G. and Anna M. Jones, old-time residents of Lower Merion. Mr. Evan G. Jones for many years owned and operated the flour and grist mill on Mill Creek, this property being the old homestead of the family. At the time of her death Miss Jones and her sister Hannah lived on Summit avenue, Fairview, their home being a part of the homestead property. Besides the sister Hannah, two brothers survive, Evan, of Fairview, and Clarence, of Gladwyn.

The funeral was held Monday, February 25, from her late home. Interment at the Baptist Cemetery, Bryn Mawr, of which church she was a member. Rev. W. B. Shunway officiated.

WILL MEET AT BRYN MAWR.

At the meeting of the officers and directors of the Main Line Citizens' Association held on February 21, it was decided to hold these meetings in the future at the Memorial Building, Bryn Mawr, in the office of the association. Residents of the Main Line have always been welcome at the meetings, and they will be especially so now that the meetings are at the home office.

Community Club Musical

DISPLAYED FIRST-CLASS TALENT
—MANY MUSIC LOVERS
PRESENT—RECEPTION FOLLOWED.

The Woman's Community Club deserves all the praise it is receiving for the high-grade musicale it gave to Narberth last Monday evening. Mrs. Joseph Barclay is responsible for the talent and arrangement of the program. Mrs. Barclay has been chairman of the Music Department of the club for four years, during which time she has presented many artistic treats.

Following the greeting of the club president, Mrs. E. C. Batecior, the first surprise came in the appearance of the club's new violin quartet, which showed studied expression and exactness in harmony. This is also under the leadership of Mrs. Barclay.

Although some of the members of the Club Chorus were absent through illness, it gave very successful renditions, judging from the encores received. Those who heard the Chorus last year will agree it demonstrated the result of the correct training of Mr. David Spratt. The finish of their work perhaps was best shown in the unaccompanied rendering of "Sweet and Low." This four-part Woman's Chorus was organized by Mrs. A. B. Ross, who has been its backbone throughout its existence.

Narberth's violin and cello favorites, Messrs. Joseph H. and William P. Nash, delighted their audience with several duets, and also assisted in the encores.

Two of Philadelphia's well-known soloists captivated the music lovers. The young baritone, Luigi Baccelli, showed an unusually powerful voice. His voice seemed most powerful in the music written in his native Italian tongue.

In decided contrast was the sweet soprano voice of Florence Lewis. Her voice has the full range of a dramatic singer and has a richness of quality seldom found. She first captivated her audience with her pleasing personality and held them with her well-controlled tones and sympathetic voice expression.

Miss Fannie Loos accompanied the soloists with her usual artistic touch. The final number was the rendition of Goun's "List the Cherub's Host," by the Chorus and Soloists, assisted by Mrs. Easby and Mr. Nash on the violin.

Mrs. A. B. Ross accompanied all the chorus work of the evening with a correctness that lent confidence to the conductor and support to the singers.

A reception followed the program, at which time the talent of the evening was introduced and a general social hour enjoyed.

Assisting Mrs. Barclay were Mrs. Easby, hostess of the evening; Mrs. John W. Joyce, who arranged the decorations, and Mrs. E. C. Cockrill, financial officer.

EXTRA!

TENNIS PLAYERS SCORE BIG SUCCESS IN "THE SUNKEN OLIVE GARDENS."

Surpassing even their efforts of last year, the Narberth Tennis Association scored another big success on Thursday and Friday nights, when they presented the original musical comedy, "The Sunken Olive Gardens," at Elm Hall. We had hoped to print a complete review of this production in this issue, but our especially engaged dramatic critic was still laughing over Thursday night's performance when we went to press, so we'll have to ask you to wait for next week's Our Town.

In spite of the rain Thursday night, the hall was filled, and on Friday night there wasn't even "standing room."

RAINEY WOOD DOMESTIC COKE

We have been receiving much favorable comment in regard to the coke, as the following example will demonstrate. We believe that the gentleman in question knows how to fire a boiler, and we know that he knows how to be Postmaster.

Narberth, Pa., Feb. 19, 1921.

Mr. C. P. Cook:

I have used the ton of coke which you delivered to me on February 2. It just lasted sixteen days. I used no other fuel in my heater during the period, as I wanted to compare it with the pea coal which I have been using all winter. A ton of the latter lasts, as a rule, just two weeks.

I have an Ideal Water Heater No. W 19-5, and since a ton of coke at $8.75 lasts 16 days as compared with a ton of pea coal at $12.50 consumed in two weeks, I conclude the saving is decidedly worth while, inasmuch as I have found the coke makes as hot a fire as the coal and there seems to be less ashes.

I had no trouble keeping the fire in—did not have to make up a new fire during the sixteen-day period. Would like another ton of coke at once.

Respectfully,

(Signed) EDWARD S. HAWS.

This coke contains 83.45% carbon. Twenty years ago poor Anthracite Coal contained 77.84% carbon, and good Anthracite Coal (the kind we handle today) contained 82.10%—and carbon is about the only thing you want for domestic fuel requirements.

Women Are

SUBURBAN ASSOCIATION OF THE MAIN LINE HOLD
AN INTERESTING MEETING.

The Women's Activities Committee of the Suburban Association of the Main Line met Tuesday afternoon, February 15, 1921, in the office of the Suburban Association.

The following members of the committee were present:

Mrs. Alexander Brown, chairman.

Mrs. R. C. Hoffman, representing Mrs. Fletcher Stites, of Narberth.

Mrs. Theo. Spencer, of Haverford.

Mrs. H. C. Earnshaw and Miss Gertrude Ely, of Bryn Mawr.

Mrs. C. W. Ruschenberger, of Stratford.

Mrs. J. Clifton Buck, of Devon.

Miss Grace Roberts, representing Mrs. William Henry Brooks, of St. Davids.

Mrs. W. W. Hooper, representing Mrs. R. Mason Lisle, of Paoli.

The object of the meeting was to consider ways and means of disseminating information of one character or another which would be for the general welfare of all the communities from Bala-Cynwyd to Paoli.

The following plan was suggested:

Inasmuch as the Committee on Women's Activities consisted of one representative from each of the communities from Bala-Cynwyd to Paoli, each member of the committee should consider herself the chairman of the respective locality. She should appoint a sub-chairman for each of the voting districts in her community, who in turn would appoint women living in their districts to be points of contact with the homes of their roads or in their block.

Where voting districts run from one community into another it will be necessary for the chairmen of the communities affected to confer and agree upon a boundary line.

It was thoroughly understood that each community chairman should advise each local organization interested in the general welfare of the community, so that there would be no misunderstanding or duplication of effort.

It was understood that no committee-man was to assume leadership in any movement as a representative of the Suburban Association, but she was to hold herself in readiness to pass on information to all of her neighbors in her district by personal visits, telephone calls or any other means, as she may see fit.

Questions which may arise needing local action will be referred to the local organizations for consideration.

From time to time information will be distributed bearing on the subjects, such as child welfare, milk inspection by the townships, health ordinances, danger of the house-fly, plans of other communities for beautifying and improving same.

They would also be asked to urge all parents to report communicable diseases, no matter how slight, as a protection to themselves and all who will come in contact.

They will be asked to advise their neighbors of general campaign plans, such as the elimination of the fly and the mosquito. They will also be urged to secure the co-operation of the neighbors in the plans of local organizations for clean-up week, etc.

They will be asked to report on failure to collect garbage, or accumulation of rubbish, on failure of street lamps to burn at night.

It is hoped that in this way these workers will be the medium of information to and from the people living in their immediate neighborhood, and to be the points of contact so that these homes may be reached when it comes to matters pertaining to the general welfare of the territory commonly known as the Main Line.

Criminal Court
at NorristownTWO WOMEN ON GRAND JURY AND OTHERS ON PETIT JURY —WOMEN TIPSTAVES AND OTHER INNOVATIONS.

The corridors at the Court House at Norristown on Monday morning were crowded with curious people, who were anxious to see how the women called for jury duty at this week's session of Criminal Court would act under fire.

Inside the railing of the bar were three other women who are destined to work for the county at a future term. They were present to get an insight into the duties they will be called upon to perform.

All measures possible were adopted to make the ladies feel at home. There was a reserved seat section—first two rows in the jurors' side of the court room—and all mere men were shoed to rear seats to make way for the fair ones. As they mounted the staircase leading to the court three women tipstaves met them and escorted them to the cloak room through the law library and then showed them where to sit.

Curiously, only one woman asked to be excused. She is Mrs. Bertha Bromer of Schwenksville, who has two children and a household to look after, and the court granted her relief for the entire week.

The two women called for grand jury duty were the objects of considerable attention, principally because of their posts of prominence in the jury box near the bench. They are Miss Elizabeth Murphy and Miss Mary A. Kierman. Miss Murphy was elected secretary of the grand jury, and William J. Henderson, a contractor of Narberth, is foreman.

Five jurymen failed to respond to their names, three of them being ill, one out of the jurisdiction of the court, and the fifth absent without excuse.

Nine jurors asked to be excused from the petit jury. These were left off for the entire week.

One woman juror failed to respond to her name. She is Mrs. Laura B. Shieve, Eleventh Ward, Norristown. Mrs. Shieve is confined to her home with gripe.

The Court House was all "dotted up" for the advent of the fair ones. The jury rooms have been renovated, new rugs laid on the floor, and the signs against smoking stand out prominently. In one jury room this morning a dozen jurymen sat under the sign and smoked contentedly. But there were no women around, so the violation was null and void.

The order appointing tipstaves was not handed down by the court until Monday morning. It contained three women, who are to look after the 17 lady jurors. Each of the three judges appointed a woman tipstaff and the result of their choice follows:

Mrs. Linnie Unger, Mrs. Ethel Johnson and Mrs. Lillie M. Coulston.

In addition to the regular assistants who act during court sessions under Chief Tipstaff Daniel K. Charles, William M. Nagle and Herbert Frey were appointed for the week. Mr. Charles this week is acting as court erler in place of John J. Jeffries, who is ill.

For the first time in many moons all three judges mounted the bench in No. 1 court Monday morning. Judge Solly will sit in No. 3 during the week.

The ladies got very little to do during the morning except answer to their names and file in and out of jury boxes. Two of the cases called were deemed unfit for the gentle ears to listen to and the jurors were excused by agreement of counsel.

In the third case, Attorney Henry I. Fox refused to take a chance on the female sex as jurors, and as defendant's attorney challenged all four women who were called.

A RAISE.

Two drummers in conversation:
"Jack Rose handed in his resignation as a bluff to make the firm raise his salary."

"Did they raise it?"
"Yes, but another man is drawing it."

TERRY: BALL PLAYER, UMPIRE, AND GUARDIAN OF THE GATE RESIDES IN NARBERTH.

(The article reproduced below is taken from the Philadelphia Inquirer and is a brief sketch of the life of a most interesting man, one who is loved by all who know him in our town. Mr. Terrence G. Connell, or "Terry," as his friends call him, resides on Woodside avenue. It is with pleasure we produce the personal pen sketch of our friend and neighbor.)

By Bushnell Dimond.

It's an awful thing, owning an imposing name. Or would he if you were a weak character, and couldn't live up to it, when necessary. Take the case of Terrence G. Connell. The syllables are calculated to strike awe into the hearts of the unknowing, as, indeed, they sometimes do. The very consonants summon up a vision of rigid martyrs. But just shorten it down to Terry, and what a change is there, my countrymen! The difference is that between awe and affability. Because, of course, everyone in town knows Terry. All admire him. A few fear him. Many love him. And all three with due cause.

Let us get down to fundamentals. If you are so ignorant and insular as not to know Terry or his hang-out, stop the first traffic cop, the first prominent lawyer, or the first ball player you meet, and ask him. Without a moment's hesitation he will indicate the Garrick Theatre, at whose portals Terry has lodged, a faithful and interesting guardian, since the playhouse opened in October, 1901. He is one of the most picturesque theatrical figures in the city, with a wealth of stories, anecdotes, episodes and personal history behind his trim, erect, military-looking figure, buttoned up so snugly in its blue uniform, frogged in black with its gilt collar ornaments.

This sturdy and unbent figure can have been acquired in but one way: athletics, of which more later. But the piercing eyes, that haven't forgotten how to twinkle; the smooth and unblemished skin; and the thick white moustache are less indicative. You might ponder him for a year without arriving at the true analysis, unless we helped. This, in the interests of general information, we now do.

Terry was born in Falls of Schuylkill something more than sixty-five years ago. He now lives in Narberth, where we hope his remarkable personality is properly saluted to; but that seems unlikely if the adage about prophets and their honor is true. His first real vocation (and here the secret of that military bearing comes out) was the baseball diamond. Medium old-timers recall his playing as backstop with the Chicago White Sox. From 1874 until 1881 he was an umpire with the National League. His reputation for justice was so strong that it has lived till now. He will admit that he never fined a player unless he thought the penalty justly incurred, and that he never remitted a fine, no matter what the pressure, physical or mental. A reversed decision was likewise unknown in his bright category.

Those were the days—complicated ones—of the single-handed umpire system. To the present generation such a state of things seems incredible. Terry found it unpleasant, but remediable. His nervous Celtic brain wearied of the long wrangles, the ominous crowds inundating the field, to protest some obviously fair decision. So he invented the double umpire scheme, which cuts down kicks and pop-bottle barrages considerably. He still goes to ball games when he has the time; but that isn't often. His theatrical duties are pretty arduous, you see.

He got into the dramatic game through the late Phil Nash, stepfather of those two popular actresses, Mary and Florence. Nash was connected with the Keith interests, now inclusive of the United Booking offices, and an old, old friend of Terry's. Amicable arguments finally convinced the latter that he would be spending his time more peacefully, if less thrillingly, "on the door." Accordingly he was installed at the old Bijou, in North Eighth street, to collect tickets from matinee girls and first row baldheads, pouring in to see the vaudeville shows or, during another period of the house's history, the famous stock company. It was 1893 when Terry made his theatrical debut, without benefit of spotlight or bouquets. It is one of the minor tragedies of a doorman's existence that he sees all audience, and no play.

Out of the Bijou stock have come names now famous—actors who then doubled in brass, as it were, but who now command the highest of salaries and the loudest applause. Johnny Kierans was press agent at the Bijou, and later manager. It is significant of the tenacity of friendships thus formed that the Messrs. Connell and Kierans are still intimates, working not a block away from each other, though the gentle and genial John has deserted the "game."

Then came the opening of the Garrick, and Terry shook the dust of Eighth street from his substantial feet. From that day to this he has been the quiet and efficient servitor of the gray-stone fronted playhouse in Chestnut street. His record of attendances would make the prize Sunday School pupil's look extremely ill. If he ever misses a performance, he must have a double who pinch hits for him. He is not one of those men past sixty who think that the present is a hollow delusion, and the old times necessarily the best in the world. Audiences, he admits, have changed to a degree. They used to be more cosmopolitan then, partly because of prices, partly because of neighborhood. "But," he will add soberly, "vaudeville was fine in those times, I'll tell you."

Terry's athletic attachments have always been varied. Especially fond of boxing is he. And he has been a pal of John L. Sullivan and other famous fighters since their careers first blossomed. But don't imagine that his calling and nodding list is confined to sports. He actually knows everyone in town worth knowing. Among his friends (to give but a random picking) are former Governor Stuart, Billy Sunday (with whom he tossed the ball); E. T. Stotesbury, Muggsy McGraw and the late Fred Chandler, Judges, attorneys, managers, stars, clubmen and newspapermen; in this broad path are his friendships laid. May the shadow of his esteem never grow less. For here, gentlemen, is a professional who has refused to grow old, and who has proved, for all time, that one can be amiable and efficient, linking two generations with the scope of his copious smile.

BIBLES IN MILLIONS.

Despite the H. C. of L., the output of Bibles continues to increase. Every year thirty million Bibles are printed. According to the latest figures, the Bible is printed today in 713 languages and dialects. It is estimated that with the present enormous output it would take fifty years to supply the world with Bibles. Each year the Bible is translated into new languages. Since the art of printing became general, more than six hundred million Bibles have been printed.—"Boy's Life" for February.

IS STUDENT ENERGY AWARDED?

There are too many cases of children being told that they are dunces and dumb-heads by the teachers in the schools.

The student who is a little below par or normal will never be raised to a higher plane by such treatment. We are realizing more and more that the system of grading is not the true indication of the effort and energy that the student puts forth during the school year.

The brilliant student who does not have to study or grind to raise his average a few points nearer the perfection mark does not deserve nearly as much credit as the one who has to study hard and plug during the whole year to raise his poor marks to passing and above.

The man who has been given a fertile brain and uses it only to maintain a medium of average is in the same position as the rich man's son who is given money and squanders and throws it broadcast without helping his fellow-men.

THE FIRESIDE

The Women's Auxiliary of the Harold D. Speakman Post, 356, of the American Legion of Narberth, will give their next card party at the home of Mrs. Estella Toubill, "Maple Hall," Rockland and Narberth avenues, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

On Friday, February 25th, little Patricia Adair Stevens entertained 14 of her little friends, the occasion being in honor of her third birthday. Among those present were Marie Hood, of Overbrook; Josephine Roberts, of Cynwyd; Dorothy Davis, of Philadelphia; Peggy Van Dyke, Emilie Kerigan, Helen Kerigan and Jane Stevens, of Merion; Regina Chappatte, Charles Chappatte, Mary Torchana, Agnes Torchana, Rosalind Mellor, Bernard Mellor, of Narberth.

The Narberth Boy Scout Minstrel Troupe is getting quite famous. The last two that were given made such great hits that the boys have been asked to present this year's entertainment at Wayne, Ardmore, Darby, Bryn Mawr and Pottstown, and so far have accepted Wayne and Pottstown. The other towns are under consideration.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society Methodist Episcopal Church will be held at the home of Rev. Arthur S. Walls, 314 Essex avenue, Monday afternoon, March 7th. Mrs. Maude Wigfield Williams, missionary from Africa, will be the speaker. Members and friends invited.

for its new members. There has been no formal greeting to the new members since early last spring, and the first part of the afternoon is to be given over to a reception of those who have entered the club since that time. Through a novel plan every member, old and new, will meet every other member. You will learn the name of that interesting woman who sat two seats ahead of you last week.

Then will follow a most interesting program celebrating the State in which we live. Here's to Pennsylvania! to her wonderful resources, to her industries, to her glorious mountains, to her writers, to her famous artists, to her musical life! There will be short talks by various members about those things of which we are rightfully proud. There will be music and there will be living pictures of some of Pennsylvania's famous women of Colonial time, and then our own Mr. Stites will finish the program, his subject being, "Here's to Pennsylvania! Our State of Matchless Resources, High Traditions and Sacred Shrines!"

Hail Pennsylvania, loyal and true! Thy children consecrate themselves anew;

Birthplace of Liberty, may truth set us free!

Hail Pennsylvania, we sing to thee.

Let us all be there to greet the year's new members. They have already proved to be a strong arm of the organization. Come, celebrate Pennsylvania Day!

The Literature Class.

The Monday morning Literature Class was devoted to the commemoration of the centenary of John Keats, a most noted poet, who gave masterpieces to the world at the early age of eighteen years and ended his career within ten years. His death was on February 23, 1821.

Junior Section.

The regular meeting of the Club was held at the home of Mrs. Harry A. Jacobs on Thursday evening, February 24.

The Club had as its guests a delegation of members from the Junior Section of Ridley Park's Community Club. They took complete charge of the entertaining for the evening and gave a most charming program of recitations. Mrs. Wynnefield S. MacHenry, chairman of the Ridley Park girls, gave a brief resume of their work as a Club and told of the wonderful results achieved during their six years of organization. Their corresponding secretary, Miss Cornelia Craven, read a complete summary of work accomplished through their various departments for the past year—departments composed of such interesting branches as Athletic, Sunshine to Shut-ins, Hospital, Chocolate Girls, Dance Series, and a number of other equally interesting and worthwhile departments. The recitations rendered were: "At the Matinee," by Miss Maxine Bashillier; "Ole Mistus," by Miss Edith Shurter.

A comedy, entitled "Tickets Please," Cast: Mignonne, Miss Vanita Shurter; Charlotte, Miss Dorothy Chestnut; Maude, Miss Ruth McGurk; Linda, Miss Cornelia Craven.

This concluded a delightfully planned program, and the members of both clubs then participated in a general good time and in the punch and cake provided by the hostesses of the evening.
